Dear Sir:

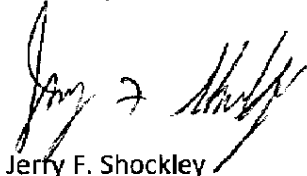

On March 16, 2010 I conducted a specific polygraph examination on your client, Matthew McCabe. The examination was conducted to determine if Mr. McCabe struck a prisoner last September 1st. Mr. McCabe was asked the following relevant questions.

1. Q. Did you strike Ahmad Al-Isawi in the midsection?
1. A. No.
2. Q. Last September 1st did you strike Ahmad Al-Isawi in the midsection with your fist?
2. A. No.

The above questions were asked on three polygrams utilizing the Backster Zone Comparison Test technique. At the conclusion of the examination there were no significant physiological responses to the above relevant questions. It is my professional opinion that Mr. McCabe was being truthful when he answered the above questions.

If you have any questions regarding this examination, do not hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely,

Jerry F. Shockley
