To Whom It May Concern:

I would highly recommend Mohammed Estakhri for employment with the Department of State. Mohammed worked for me for two years. During that time, he dedicated himself to the work I set out for him. The nature of the work was sensitive and could not be shared with family or friends. In addition, it often called for him to work odd hours. Nonetheless, he handled every task with alacrity, and the information he provided to me was accurate and complete. I had complete confidence in his integrity. He was provided money and an expense account and given strict guidance as to how that money could be spent within the guidelines of his work for me. He accounted for every penny, and never gave me any cause to doubt that his expenditures were both accurate and necessary. I had the occasion to use his translation capabilities, and found his work to be excellent. I also benefitted from his knowledge and understanding of the Iranian culture and related cultures. Again, I am happy to recommend Mohammed for employment.

Sincerely,
